THE WARWICK 1990

Volume 67

Warwick High School

Newport News, Virginia 23601

Keep On Moving!

Last year was a time of change. This year was a time to move ahead, a time to KEEP ON MOVING! Students in each grade level moved up a year. The seniors graduated and moved on to college, the armed forces, technical schools, careers, marriages, parenthood, and other adventures of life. Our football team enjoyed one of its best seasons ever, and everyone at Warwick moved up to a high level of pride as a result. Special education classes moved from the Warwick Annex to inside our building. Several teachers retired and moved on; new teachers moved in. The school boasted a new electronic sign that kept on moving its message across its board in bright red lights, announcing good news to all the Raider family. The school kept on moving in its fight against drugs as again evidenced by Red Ribbon Week, sponsored by Students Against Drunk Driving (S.A.D.D.). A new yearbook adviser, a new yearbook class, a new yearbook staff after school, and a new yearbook publisher—all of these faced the challenge of keeping THE WARWICK tradition alive and moving forward into the 1990's. We are proud to showcase the seniors this year in COLOR, our final tribute to them as they KEEP ON MOVING, leaving Warwick to chase their own rainbows. All in all, this year was not a time to look back or stand still; it was a time of joy, a time of activity, a time of progress, a time of achievement, a time to get on with the business at hand, a time to GO FOR IT, yes—a time to KEEP ON MOVING!

RICHARD PARHAM'S GOAL: TO KEEP ON MOVING and score a touchdown in the homecoming game against Gloucester. This year at WHS was a time to KEEP ON MOVING!

HOMECOMING

SHOWING THAT RAIDER SPIRIT with a parade and floats such as the one here (below) is what we do in preparation for homecoming.

CATCHING A PASS from quarterback Anthony Watson, Monny Hooker (left) heads toward the goal line for another score at the homecoming game against Gloucester. Plays such as this guaranteed success for the Raiders and allowed them to "keep on moving" in their quest for a district championship.

RAIDER SPIRIT

RAIDER SPIRIT like this (below) inspired our football team to win the homecoming game.

SWARMING ON DEFENSE, Austin Kirk (66), David Golden (89), Robbie Puryear, and Billy Lyons (34), (above) devastate a Duke in the homecoming game.

PROUD RAIDERS

LEAVING PHOEBUS BEHIND, the cross country team (above left) runs to victory.

MAKING NEW FLATS during biology class is Payton Lamm.

DANCING

The Warwick High School Dance Department presented a dance recital on Monday, December 11, 1989, in the school auditorium. It was a great success. The dancers danced their hearts out, and the audience responded enthusiastically.

A lot of rehearsal went into preparing for the dances. Mrs. Fauntleroy, the dance instructor and choreographer, gave much of her time to help the dancers get ready for the performance. And, of course, the dancers themselves spent many hours practicing so that they would look their very best.

The program included a variety that ranged from classical ballet to popular jazz. The costumes were colorful and appropriate and added extra "glitter" to this classy affair.

The dance troupe was assisted backstage by the school's Sight and Sound Club: Gary Forrester and Crew Chief Todd Hudson helped with lighting effects; Manessa Wilson worked sound (musical recordings); and Todd Ruder and Jason Accurso operated the spotlights.

We salute Mrs. Fauntleroy and her dance ensemble for a job well done and for enhancing and enriching students' lives by exposing them to the culture of classical dance.

ALL EYES are on Derone Lewis and Becca Stacey (middle) as they perform to the music of "Eyes" by Jermaine Jackson and Whitney Houston.

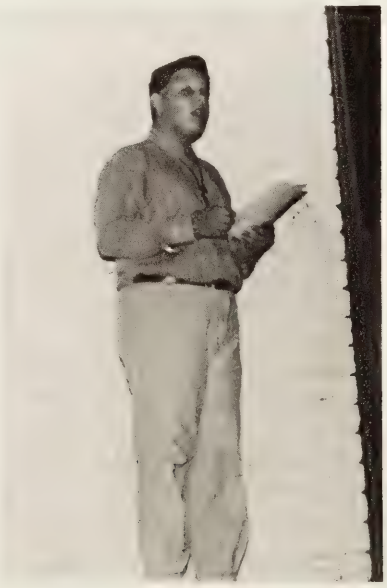
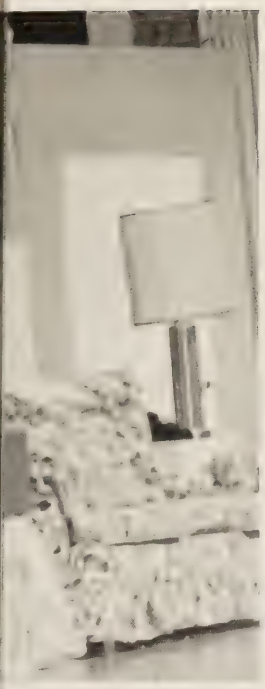
"IS ALL THE MONEY gone, Walter?" Mama finds (right) that indeed it is.



"WHAT HAPPENED down there in Greenfield?" Walter (large photo at top) questions BeBe about the money.

"LISTEN, MY BLACK BROTHERS..." Benita (above center) takes Walter back to his African roots in a moment of comic relief.

"AND NOW WE PRESENT our fall production entitled A Raisin in the Sun," announces James Cuthrell (above left).



"IS THIS WHAT an African intellectual looks like?" Joseph Asagai (below left) is an African intellectual in the play who is in love with Benita.

"YOU'RE NOT GOING to the theater with me dressed like that!" exclaims Benita's date (below right).

"What happens to a dream deferred?
Does it dry up
Like a raisin in the sun?"

Lorraine Hansberry used these lines from Langston Hughes's poem for the title and theme of her award-winning play, A RAISIN IN THE SUN. Ms. Medina Smith, head of the Drama Department, directed and produced this production in the school auditorium on Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 at 7 P.M. and during a special preview assembly during the school day.

At a time when many schools are producing silly comedies and other lightweight fluff to please their unsophisticated audiences, the Warwick Drama Department continues to showcase theater of substance, quality, and timeliness. Such a difficult and challenging and classy drama is A RAISIN IN THE SUN. The play concerns a black family wanting to establish itself in a white community in Chicago in the late 1950's. A black perspective in a white-dominated culture is especially appropriate for a Warwick audience; at Warwick blacks outnumber whites, yet the school is located in a predominately white section of the city. Such an study of race relations is as relevant today as it was in the late 1950's. We salute you for your fine work, Ms. Smith!

"I'M SORRY, WILLY. I had my life staked on that deal, too!" Walter (above center) is devastated when he discovers that the money is gone.

"LIGHTS UP!" Gary Forrester and Aaron Accurso (left) were part of the Sight and Sound Crew who helped with the lighting.

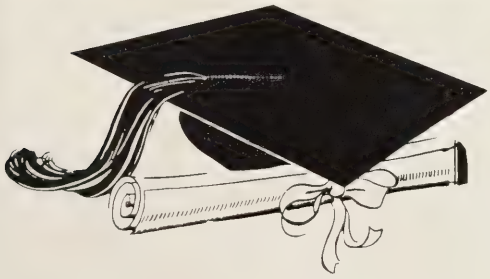
Guiding Us to the Future

WHOM DO YOU SEE FIRST upon entering the guidance office? It may well be our registrar, Mrs. Erline Wimberly (left), who is always cheerful and smiling.

AFTER A HARD DAY'S WORK, Mr. Holmes (above), head of guidance, tries to recall a student's last name. Mr. Holmes is both friendly and professional.

MRS. POLLARD (above) discusses graduation requirements with a student. Mrs. Pollard is always upbeat and positive.

AT CONTROL CENTRAL Mrs. Thompson (below) is setting appointments, checking grades on the computer, and coordinating office activity.



We at Warwick are blessed with a wonderful guidance office. Each of the counsellors gives so much of himself/herself in a warm and friendly manner while at the same time offering professional assistance in a variety of important areas of a student's life. It is the guidance counsellor who first registers us in our classes at the beginning of each semester. They help us choose the classes that are best for us and meet the requirements of graduation and the college or vocational program we plan to pursue after graduation. Speaking of graduation, many of us would never make it without their help and encouragement along the way! Many of them exhibit photographs of various students over the years they have counselled and refer to them fondly as parents speak of their children.

The counsellors participate in the orientation of new students at the beginning of the school year. They coordinate various standardized tests that are given throughout the year and assist students in preparing for the SAT and application to college and vocational schools. Career counselling is another of the many areas of expertise they offer to students.

Yet one of the most important services provided by our counsellors is simply being someone to listen to when a student is upset. Sometimes it's anxiety over teachers and course demands and grades; sometimes peer pressure; other times it may be boyfriend-/girlfriend problems; yet other times it's problems at home. Each student knows that his/her counsellor is someone to turn to for nurturing. Many of us consider our counsellor as a member of our family. We salute you all, including Mr. Paul Cowley, one of the school's most popular counsellors, unfortunately not pictured here on these pages. Thank you for your guidance, for keeping us on track, as we KEEP ON MOVING toward graduation and our life's goals!

LOVING, CARING, NURTURING — these are some of the words that apply to counsellor Mrs. Fran Scott (below).

Language Arts Department

The teachers of the Language Arts Department are usually referred to as "English teachers." To most students English means two textbooks, one grammar and the other literature. But what is English, really? Within a single class the English teacher is expected to teach a vast curriculum that includes oral communication skills, written composition skills including a formal research paper, grammar, literature (both by genres and literary periods), SAT skills, reading skills, vocabulary, spelling, and minimum competencies, to name just a few.

English is the only subject a student is required to take and pass each semester in order to earn a diploma. The department also offers a variety of electives: journalism, beginning composition (expository writing), and drama and stagecraft. (Ms. Medina Smith, a special education teacher, who is also drama director, is listed on the special education pages in this yearbook.)

The chairman of the English Department is Mrs. Patricia Holman. Students in English classes are grouped by ability levels: X = advanced; A = average; Y = below average; R = remedial. There is also an Advanced Placement Class for seniors planning to earn college credit in freshman English by preparing for, taking, and passing the Advanced Placement Test. Each year a group of advanced juniors and drama students travel to Christopher Newport College to see a special matinee of a classic drama; this year's production was Moliere's TARFUFFE. The English teachers are committed to helping students prepare for the PSAT and SAT. Mr. Stroup and Mrs. Lowe (from the math department) conducted a special SAT workshop for 5 days after school. Creative writing is encouraged; Mrs. Clark sponsors a literary magazine, THOUGHTS OF GOLD, which publishes each fall and spring a variety of student writing and art. English teachers also encourage their students to participate in various essay contests throughout the year; Warwick produces a large number of winners in many of these contests.

The English Department is especially proud of its writing laboratory. At mid-year the old Apple IIe computers were replaced with new state-of-the-art MacIntosh Pluses. Each English teacher takes his/her classes to the lab for a week at least twice during the school year. Students get to use the computers and word processing programs for a variety of writing assignments, getting to revise and edit on the screen and produce printed drafts. The English Department also has a variety of SAT/grammar/vocabulary programs that students use, too.

STANDING PROUD, Mrs. Coltrane introduces her students to the microscope.

TAKING A SNIFF, Jeff Lyons performs an experiment for a science project.

"SNOWBUNNY, Ms. Ward, (above) stop playing in the snow and go teach your class!"

Social Studies, Anyone?

The world is full of many people who want to take part in the future, but first one must learn about the past and the present. Here at Warwick, students do just that. In the ninth or tenth grade, one must take world history or world geography. As a junior, one must take U.S. and Virginia history, and, as a senior, one must take U.S. and Virginia government. Psychology, U.S. and Soviet relations, and practical law are other courses in which students at Warwick may participate. Each year the teachers see students come and go. Maybe, one day, they'll see those students making history or playing a part in government or both.

Time To Check Out Books

STANDING TALL, Ms. Mizelle waits patiently for students to check out books.

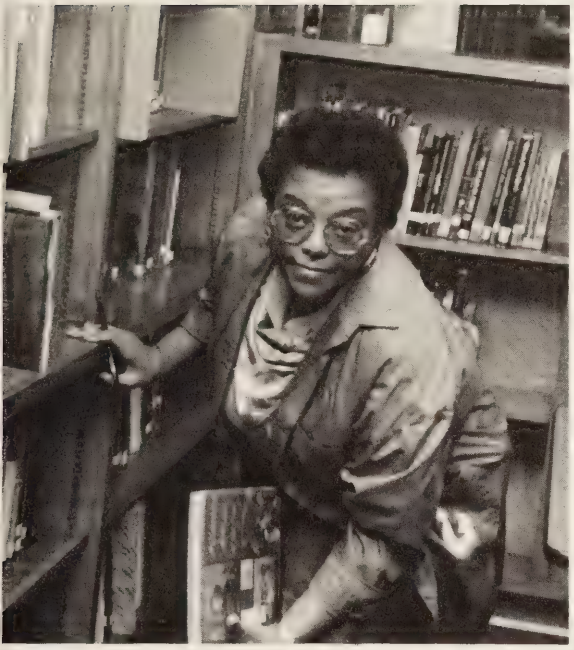
MRS. OWSLEY (left), who formerly worked in the Main Office, joined the library staff at the beginning of the 1989-90 school year.

Our Warwick library is a rich storehouse of printed treasures. Students retrieve many nuggets of knowledge for inclusion in research papers. Besides the usual fare of fiction, nonfiction, reference books, periodicals, and newspapers, the library has SIRS, an on-line computer hooked in with the city library system, newspaper index, microfilm, computers, typewriters, video cameras and players, stereos, cassette recorders/players, LP's, and even a professional library. But the greatest resource of all the library offers is the kind and professional services of Ms. Hobson and Ms. Mizelle and their library team. They visit the English classes to prepare the students for their research projects. In the library they are always helpful, friendly, and warm. Students know they are welcome in the Raider library.



PUTTING BOOKS ON THE SHELF, Mrs. Hobson looks up for a snapshot.

CURRENT MAGAZINES are only one of many types of resourse materials available in our Raider library—just ask Shenetta Potts!

The library is used for study, research, meetings, tutoring, and learning. Here Mrs. Al-Salaam is tutoring Mauyomi Stephenson and Shawn King in math.

What's Cooking? Home Economics!

CHARLENE CHAMBLEE, a home economics student, takes a moment to look up and give us a smile.

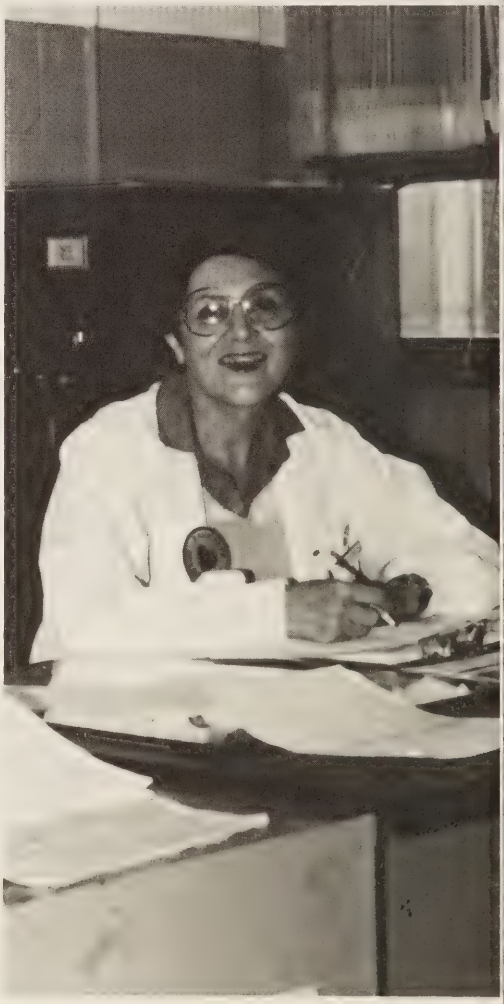
Warwick is very fortunate to have a home economics department in the person of Ms. Toni Twiford. Amid all the emphasis on advanced math and sciences as well as social sciences and humanities, it's comforting to know that the basics of home living aren't neglected at Warwick. Students in home economics learn the very real and practical skills they will soon carry with them as they set up their own homes. One of these is cooking. Students learn new recipes and then get to try them out. They are taught how to shop, how to work with a budget, the essentials of feeding a family. Sometimes during the school year the home economics students bake and sell cookies and other delicious baked items. They also prepare some of their treats for faculty appreciation days. In addition to cooking, students here also learn other life skills, including sewing. We salute and applaud Ms. Twiford's continued fine work!

Warwick's Wonderful Wellness Woman!

How could we ever manage without our school nurse, Mrs. Sue Castleman? She takes care of all the aches and ailments that befall students during the school day, both imagined and "real." She takes temperatures, dispenses prescriptions from doctors, checks blood pressure, takes pulse readings, and generally checks over the physcial condition of each student who seeks her help. She is there for those special emergencies that many students experience from time to time. One of her main treatments is with ice. So many students go there seeking ice to soothe their aches that she keeps a large container at all times just for that purpose. Mrs. Castleman maintains health records on each student at Warwick and advises teachers of students with special health needs and problems. Students who are especially ill lie down on one of the cots in the clinic. If the illness is serious, Mrs. Castleman phones the parents to come pick up their son or daughter and seek further medical treatment. Mrs. Castleman also advises students about nutrition and other health-related matters. All of us at Warwick appreciate the fine work of our school nurse!

MS. TONI TWIFORD works hard to students the basi in home economics.

MRS. SUE CASTLEMAN, our school nurse, stays bu every day taking care of ill students.



Defenders of Law and Order

OFFICER TIMBERLAKE, one of the most popular personalities on the Warwick campus, gets a warm hug of support from Holly Bonello.

This year staff aides became "security officers." In addition to the fine work of security officers Mr. Morris, Mrs. Anderson, and Mr. Ross, Warwick is blessed this year to share with Ferguson the services of Newport News police officer W.K. Timeberlake. These defenders of law and order help maintain peace at a school with over 1200 students. Warwick makes it clear to all students that violations of school rules and regulations will not be tolerated. No one will harm another. Fights and physical violence are not the proper way to resolve a dispute. Most all students at Warwick follow proper rules and regulations and want to; only a few try to break the rules and enfringe upon the rights of others. Our security force is dedicated to guaranteeing that all students at Warwick can learn and grow in a safe and well-regulated environment. Students are not permitted to smoke or possess tobacco products on school grounds. Warwick does not tolerate illegal drugs of any kind; violators are removed from the school enviroment and referred to the proper legal authorities. We applaud and salute our fine team of officers for helping make Warwick a secure learning environment!

MR. FRANKLIN MORRIS, security officer.

MRS. SHIRLEY ANDERSON, security officer.

ROOMS 113-116 AND LIBRARY

Let's Do Breakfast and Lunch!

Mrs. McLendon and her cafeteria staff do a remarkable job providing a nutritional and delicious breakfast and lunch for the students of Warwick each day. The menu is varied and includes special treats for holidays. The cafeteria is also a major site for socializing; for many students lunch is the only opportunity they have to sit down and talk with their friends during the school day. Many of Warwick's faculty, too, enjoy breakfast and lunch and the chance to take a break and talk to their colleagues.

MRS. WILHELMINIA MCLENDON (right) is the manager of Warwick's cafeteria staff.

Making a Clean Sweep

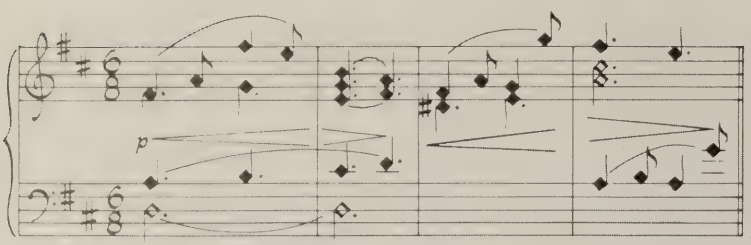
Our Raider custodial staff is fortunate to have, among others, (above, top row, left to right, Mrs. Webb, Mr. Robert Walker, and Mr. Eugene Davis. Also pictured (immediately above) is Mr. William Jones, along with student Manessa Wilson.

Warwick's custodial staff is headed by Mr. Clarence French. Also included but not pictured are Mr. James Brown, Mr. Terrence Burton, Mrs. Blanche Ellison, Mr. Jacob McDonald, Mrs. Ethelyne Wilkins, Mrs. Michelle Yuille, and Mrs. Shari McCain. We are very proud of our custodial staff. They have won honors for Warwick, naming it as one of the cleanest schools in the entire division. Our custodians help with setting up classrooms, assemblies, and handling emergencies as they occur throughout the day. Mr. William Jones displayed another side of his talents at the faculty Christmas party in December by helping to teach the group there how to dance the "Electric Slide"! We salute and applaud our entire custodial staff for all the fine work they do for us all at Warwick.

MUSIC TO THE EARS



LADIES AND GENTLEMEN, presenting the Warwickshire Singers, one of Warwick's most popular entertaining groups!

BE CAREFUL! Mr. Tony Auby, Choral Director, "struggles" with his annual Christmas tree, revealing a good sense of humor!

For many years choral music at Warwick High School has been under the leadership of director Tony Auby. This year he taught various vocal groups during Periods 1, 2, and 7; his other time was taken up at Denbigh Middle School. The glittering showpiece of choral music at Warwick is the Warwickshire Singers, who have won numerous awards throughout the area as a result of their outstanding vocal work. One of their specialities is Christmas music in malls and homes for the elderly during the Christmas season. The school is given a special treat each fall and spring with annual music concerts that feature both choral groups and special solos and duets.

Business, ICT, & Marketing

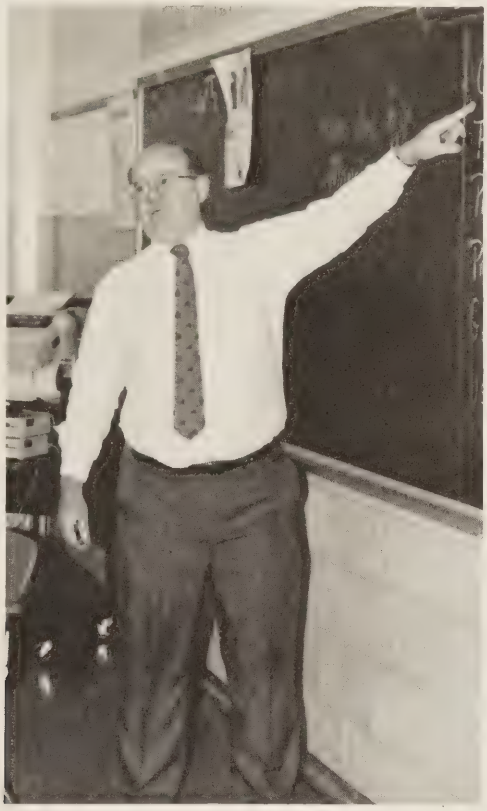
BRIAN SHEETS (top right) at the keyboard in a business class. MIKE LEWIS (bottom right) is evidence that males, too, benefit from business skills such as typing.

MR. HOLDER (below left) at work teaching marketing skills. MRS. DAVENPORT (below right), English teacher and newspaper adviser, teaching Malinda Futrell computer skills as Cara Rich looks on.



Warwick is fortunate to offer students courses in business, ICT, and marketing. These are real-life skills that immediately translate into business employment opportunities, both during high school and upon graduation. Warwick has the most modern and sophisticated business equipment, including computers with state-of-the-art word processing programs. Warwick has just obtained its own satellite dish that receives programming literally from all over the world for use in classroom intruction. Many students in business, ICT, and marketing participate in a special cooperative program whereby they attend classes at Warwick for part of the day and then report for work at a nearby business where they receive both academic credit and business training as well as a paycheck! In some cases such jobs continue well beyond graduation and may be the actual beginning of a career in that field of work. All of Warwick is proud of the fine work of these teachers of business, ICT, and marketing!

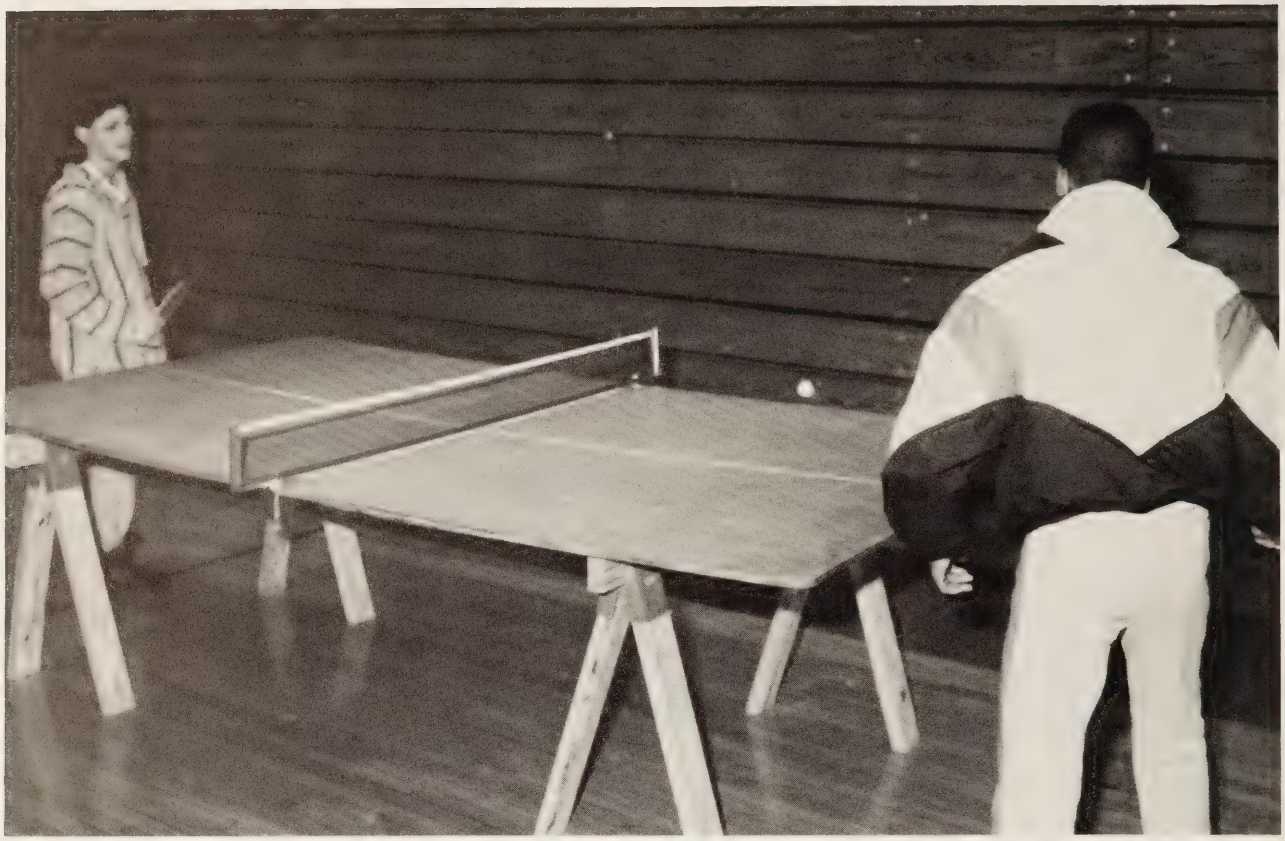
Let's Get Physical!



PING-PONG, ANYONE? Ping-pong is just one of the physical activities you can participate in during your two years of physical education. Just ask Allen Honeycutt! (above left)

UP, UP, AND AWAY! Derrick Stokes (left) leaps with a single bound . . . his goal . . . the basket!

"What Did You Say?"

WHAT ARE YOU SAYING? Hand signals from Mrs. Walsh are not helping Jennifer with Spanish (below left).

HAVING FUN YET, CHRISTY? Whatever you do, don't tell Mrs. Matzner (below right) that you think Deutsch is dumb!

Se divierten todavia?

Vous vous amusez deja?

Haben sie noch spas?

Taking a foreign language sure does seem to be a waste of time, doesn't it? I mean, when will you ever get a chance to use it? Well, for those who have taken the SAT's, you, for one, know the advantage of studying a foreign language. French, Spanish, German, and Latin all contain words that we use in English as root words. A firm knowledge of a second language could improve your vocabulary.

We at Warwick High would also like to recognize Ben Chantemargue from France and Ulrike Gutberlet from Germany. We must point out that if it wasn't for Ben and Ulrike choosing English as their foreign language, we wouldn't have had the pleasure of knowing them for six months, not to mention opening up a line of communication between us and them which otherwise would have been impossible. We shall miss you both and remember you always!

Studying foreign language thus teaches us more than just a new language; it expands our horizons to include a culture other than our own. Students of a foreign language are fortunate that we live in such a cosmopolitan area with people of many cultures and their respective languages.

WANT TO LEARN GERMAN? This is the woman you want to see then, Mrs. Matzner!

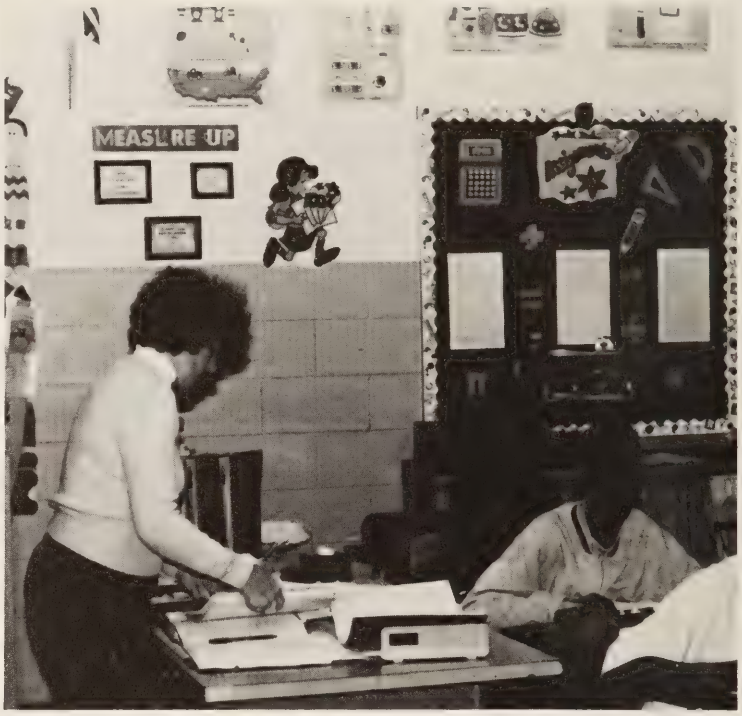
BREEZING THROUGH MATH

Once you come to Warwick you may think that your math days are over. Well, guess what? To receive a diploma, you MUST take two or three years of algebra and other courses beyond algebra. There are many mathematics classes to choose from, ranging from basic math all the way through calculus. Math is not just numbers; it's shapes, lengths, and problem solving. Geometry includes all the shapes, lengths, and diameters. Algebra and other math classes teach square roots, quotients, and other hard-to-learn problems.

Warwick is fortunate to have a math department that does such a good job imparting this essential knowledge on to its students. We applaud and salute the fine work of Mr. Drummond and his math department.

YOU CAN SEE this smile almost every day if you stay on Mrs. Higgins' good side!

MRS. HICKS always tries to keep her students busy, but Lamont can sneak a peak in.



ONCE A PHOTOGRAPHER enters a room, a teacher automatically has to look. Right, Mrs. Hicks?

ALL THROUGH THE DAY you can find Mr. Horne helping a person in need, such as Jawana Joyner.

"WHATCHA DOING?" Jason Werner checks out what Sammy Saunders is doing in Mr. Horne's algebra/trigonometry class.

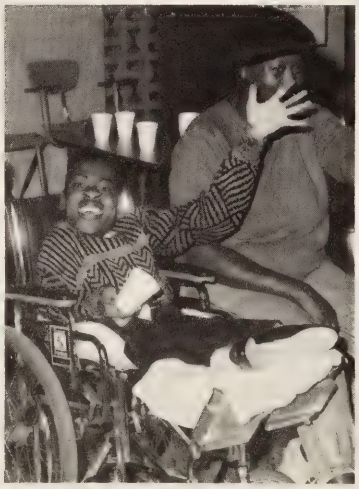
TEACHING SPECIAL CHILDREN

Mrs. Barbour (below) teaching her horticulture class. She and her students planted some beautiful flowers in front of the school next to the Warwick High School sign. For many weeks all of us, including numerous visitors, were greeted each morning with the sight of these gorgeous blossoms. The Special Education Department is now located within the main building of Warwick High School itself, moving over from its former location in the Warwick Annex. Several of its classrooms are located in the hallway near the art room, 003.

MR. AUBY, the choral director, is leading a group of special education students in a session of "music motion." Once isolated from the rest of the school, these students are now being mainstreamed more and more and are having more opportunities to participate in the wide variety of activities throughout the school.



KIM GEORGE is one of the most recognizable students at Warwick High. His friendly smile, wave of his hand, and indomitable spirit are an inspiration to us all.

WHO IS THAT MASKED MAN? Welding is one of many technical skills learned at Warwick.

Warwick is fortunate to offer students a variety of courses in technology education. Mr. Colwell teaches construction technology, wood working, and communication technology. Mr. Jackson offers instruction in metal working, electronics, and power transportation. Mr. Keesecker teaches architectural and mechanical drawing/design as well as printing. These technical skills often introduce students to a vocational field they can pursue for a living upon graduation. These three teachers have been an invaluable resource for all the Warwick faculty as well. Mr. Keesecker and his students often print programs and tickets for various school functions.

Presenting . . . An NJROTC Scrapbook . . .

Warwick is fortunate to have its own NJROTC. Students have an opportunity to learn more about the possibilities of a career in the armed forces by participating in this junior naval unit. Cadets wear a uniform, have inspection, and march in drills. The NJROTC presents a color guard at sporting events and school assemblies.

Memories of the 1989-90 School Year!

Cadets have the opportunity for various field trips including a real sea cruise! The ASVAB test is administered each year; cadets who pass are ready to enter the armed forces upon graduation and can already start planning for their military career. Our NJROTC is headed by Commander Gerald Wheeler with assistance from Chief Bateman.

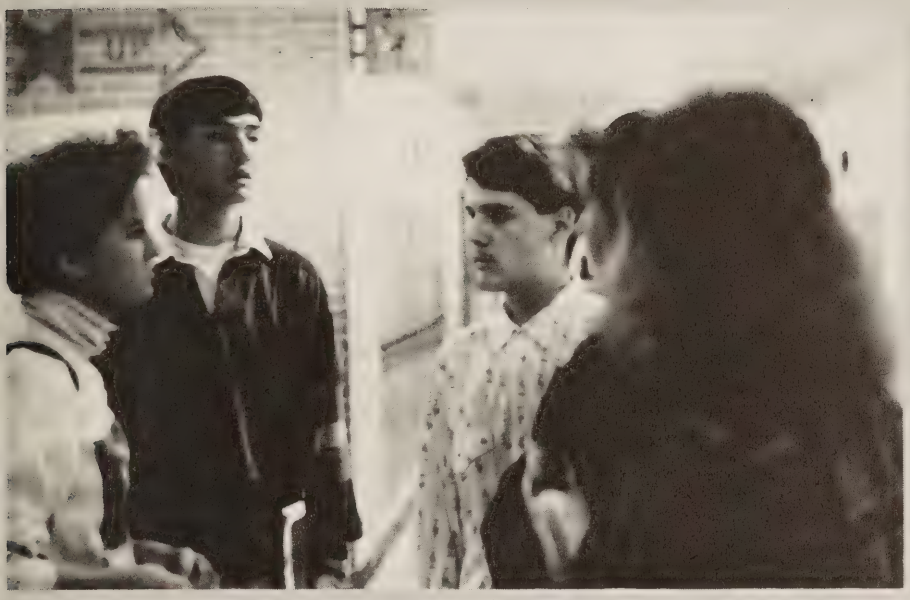
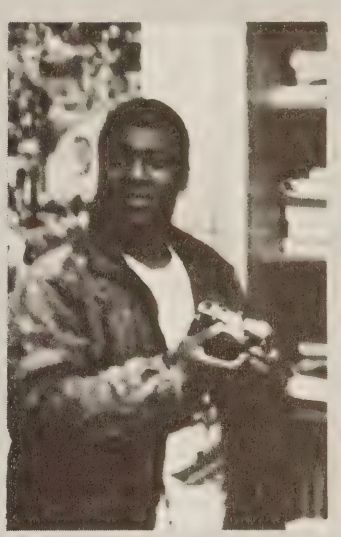
Membership in The International Thespian Society is the highest honor a student can receive on a high school level in theater arts. Students must earn their membership through work both onstage and backstage in a variety of endeavors, pay lifetime dues, and be initiated in a formal ceremony. Members receive the monthly magazine, DRAMATICS. We applaud and salute these outstanding thespians! The Thespian motto is "Act well your part; therein the honor lies."

Rolling Through A Year Of Film

"DON'T FALL ALSEEP, MANESSA!" Manessa Wilson finds it difficult to stay awake during Mr. Stroup's yearbook instruction.



TALKING SERIOUSLY, First Period yearbook staff members Carrie Winfree, Mike Coleman, Brian Francisco, Amy Franks, and Jennifer Jackson hold a hall conference about Senior portraits.



DANGEROUS AND READY TO SHOOT, yearbook photographer Ronald Johnson arms himself with a 35mm camera to stalk his prey.

Memories fade . . Yearbooks don't!

Pictured here are some scenes from the First Period Annual Class. Students who take this class do the most work on the yearbook; however, they unfortunately do not receive academic credit! They are assisted by students willing to work after school. Clockwise (starting upper right) are Mr. Tom Stroup, Adviser; Jennifer Jackson and Jennifer Williams; Carrie Winfrey and Amy Franks; Thalisa Lassiter; and Amy Franks. Not pictured are Katrina Brumskin, Michael Coleman, Brian Francisco, Ronald Johnson, Stephanie Sauls, Sammy Saunders, Tabetha Staton, Shannon Stevens, and Manessa Wilson. Sam Schindel helped out Sixth Period. A page of layout requires photographing, developing, selecting, cropping, writing headlines, captions, copy, and somtimes adding art! Amy Franks did the layout on the opposite page.

Students at Warwick have a variety of outlets for their writing talents. Mrs. Clark sponsors the school literary magazine, THOUGHTS OF GOLD, which publishes poetry, prose, and artwork at least twice a year. Mrs. Clark, an English teacher, is herself a practicing writer who has had several poems published. Mrs. Davenport sponsors THE EARLE, the school's newspaper. Students may even take journalism from her and earn credit for their writing. Mrs. Davenport also teaches English classes. Newspaper writers get to write editorials, feature stories, interviews, and report on a variety of school clubs, students, teachers, and sports, as well as get involved in photography. And, of course, you're reading the school's yearbook, THE WARWICK, which was this year sponsored by Mr. Tom Stroup, also an English teacher. Most people first think of a yearbook as a collection of photographs, and certainly every yearbook does feature hundreds of captured memories in pictures. But a yearbook is copy (words), too. Words tell the rest of the story. Just try watching TV with the sound turned off. Images alone are not enough. Of all the jobs required on the yearbook staff, writing copy seemed to be the least popular.

LEADING THE RAIDER CHEERS!

Thalisa Lassiter, yearbook staff member, asked the varsity cheerleaders what they like best about cheering. For Tracey Lamb it's "getting the crowd involved in chanting and showing lots of school spirit." For Linda Williams it's the "close unity we have with our sponosors and the close unity we have with each other." And Ebony Pittman agrees with Tracey: "I enjoy getting the student body involved in our cheers. Also, I enjoy showing spirit for a great school like Warwick!"

Warwick is fortunate to have such a talented, dedicated, and school-spirited squad of young ladies to represent us as varsity cheerleaders. They must keep their grades up, attend practices, and give their best performance at each game. They serve as good-will ambassadors, representing us before a variety of schools and audiences. They must have not only a good strong voice but also a well-conditioned, athletic body as well in order to perform the gymnastic stunts required. We applaud and salute our varsity cheerleaders for all the outstanding work that they do!

CANDIDS!

Jeannette Pretlow-Redford, Psychometrist

What is a psychometrist? Did you know that our school has a psychometrist? Mrs. Pretlow-Redford is WHS's psychometrist! A psychometrist is part of the pupil services team that helps students experience an appropriate school learning environment.

A student if referred to the psychometrist by a teacher, counselor, principal, parent, or the student himself/herself. The student is tested (1) to help determine correct placement in English class, (2) to gain additional knowledge concerning the achievement levels (grade levels) of the student in reading, composition, spelling, and mathematics, (3) to determine how the student learns best, and/or (4) as a part of the eligibility and monitoring of students in special education.

Now you know! We took a photo of Mrs. Pretlow-Redford that unfortunately did not turn out, but we salute her anyway and applaud the fine work she does for us here at Warwick!

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN

The Apprentice School of Newport News Shipbuilding offers four-year tuition-free apprenticeships in twenty skilled trades to qualified young men and women. Apprentices work a regular 40-hour week and are paid for all work, including time spent in academic classes.

With a full-time faculty of both academic and craft instuctors, the school provides a comprehensive education and training program that is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, Commission on Occupational Education Institutions.

The Apprentice School offers opportunities for participation in varsity intercollegiate athletics, intramural programs, and social, recreational, and community service activities.
